

24 July 2009

The Honorable Barack Obama
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW
Washington, DC 20500

Mr. President,

We, the undersigned, represent the collaborative effort of rights based civil society organizations and individuals of Ethiopian origin, living in North America, Africa, and Europe under an umbrella group called the Ethiopian National Priorities Consultative Process ENPCP. This fledgling effort, launched two years ago, has been initiated by a burning desire to promote a fresh grass-root democratic movement that can help ensure the protection of Human Rights, Democracy and the Rule of Law in Ethiopia. The first inaugural public activity of the ENPCP took place successfully on 2nd July 2009 in Chicago with a daylong Symposium as a preparatory effort for holding a National Convention by early 2010.

Mr. President,

What motivated the ENPCP members to write this humble letter is the historic speech you delivered to the Ghanaian Parliament in Accra, on 11th July 2009. No American President has ever accurately encapsulated, as you did, the stark reality prevailing in present day governance by leaders in Africa. You have spoken poignantly exposing to the world at large and to African leaders in particular, that no amount of governmental scheme will bring about meaningful change to their respective African nations without strong institutions that function to protect the welfare of the whole population they lead. You have also articulated on how democratic governance does not mean having elections only. You said,

“This is about more than just holding elections. It’s also about what happens between elections. Repression can take many forms, and too many nations, even those that have elections, are plagued by problems that condemn their people to poverty. No country is going to create wealth if its leaders exploit the economy to enrich themselves.”

It is the strong belief of the ENPCP members that it is only under the aegis of the Rule of Law and respect for Human Rights that peace and security could be achieved in every African nation and its surrounding regions. As an example, a nation such as Ethiopia, where a Marxist clique seized state power in 1991 through armed insurrection, converted the nation into ethnic homelands based on a neo-apartheid ideology continues to impose harsh undemocratic governance with its numerous repressive laws on 80 million people. Such a regime has never been a reliable partner for democracy. Also, Ethiopia cannot withstand potential internal conflicts or eliminate effectively international terrorism, which is festering in the Horn of Africa, while the majority of its own population is actively poised against the regime itself. In addition, the age old mutual strategic interest, cultural and economic development that has been nurtured by Ethiopian-American friendly relations that began since 1902 can be seriously hampered causing an anti-American sentiment identifying the U.S. with the regime.

ENPCP members greatly appreciate your Administration’s readiness to help those African leaders who are committed and struggle on their own, to bring about genuine democratic governance and respect of Human Rights to their people. We also hope, in order to protect the respective national interest between nations, your global leadership will persuade all donor governments to revise their often double standard applications of the rule of democracy, which affects the assistance they provide.

With regard to Ethiopia, specifically, we implore your Administration to take all the necessary measures to ensure that the May, 2010 Ethiopian national election will be free and fair. This will bring a new era of peace and development to the Ethiopian people who have, for long, been afflicted by oppression, instability, and a grinding poverty including the thousands who are still languishing either as political or as prisoners of conscience.

Further details on relevant points in the context of our country of origin, Ethiopia, our understanding of the challenges ahead and potential solutions will be communicated to your Chief of Staff and Secretary of State. We pray that your Administration achieves great success in all its endeavors.

With Our Highest Respect
